UM STUDENTS MAY APPLY
TO STUDY IN LONDON OR AVIGNON

MISSOULA--

University of Montana students who are sophomores or higher in good standing may sign up now to study during spring quarter 1975 in London, England, or Avignon, France, through the Northwest Interinstitutional Council on Study Abroad (NICSA). The spring term begins March 24 and ends June 6.

The overseas liberal arts programs are sponsored by NICSA, a consortium of 10 northwest colleges and universities, in cooperation with the American Heritage Association.

Announcement of openings in the program was made by the UM Center for Continuing Education and Summer Programs (CCESP), local coordinator of the overseas study programs. Under the NICSA, students may study in London or Avignon one or more quarters and earn credits through the University of Montana.

Two UM faculty members will be teaching overseas as part of the program during spring quarter. Dr. Henry R. Harrington, assistant professor of English, will teach two courses in London, "The City and the Novel" and "The Idea of the Modern in English Literature and the Visual Arts." Dr. William E. Farr, assistant professor of history, will teach two courses in Avignon, "Avignon and the Medieval World" and "Christian Monasticism." Teachers from other northwest schools also will participate.

As a member of the NICSA, UM offers its students a program of study in Europe during the academic year and summer. Each program includes a complete experience in the host country, including local "home-stay" living accommodations, numerous excursions to historical and cultural sites and participation in a wide range of activities designed to complement formal classroom work.

A locale becomes a learning laboratory for UM students when they visit theaters, galleries, museums and other places to enrich their course work in the humanities and social sciences.

Applications and information on courses offered, costs and procedures may be obtained at the CCESP office, Room 107 of Main Hall at UM, or phone 243-2900.
